Rundown

00:00 - 00:20

Intro

00:19 – 00:41

The Audi Sport TT Cup 2017. 16 Juniors, one big aim, getting a professional race driver. Therefore the Audi Sport TT Cup gives the best entry.

00:41 – 01:02

Philipp Mondelears (Project Manager Audi Sport TT Cup)

“The Audi Sport TT Cup is the first step into the world of Audi Motorsport. With the Audi Sport TT Cup we give the youngsters a chance to getting in touch with professional motorsport and eventually to get further into the other programs from Audi, like TCR, GT4, GT3, or, who knows, DTM.”

01:02 – 01:11

It’s the third season of the Audi Sport TT Cup and the series getting placed well in the surrounding of the DTM.

01:11 – 01:22

Philipp Mondelears (Project Manager Audi Sport TT Cup)

“The concept from 2016 we take over into 2017. No changes on the car side, no changes on the sporting side, the concept has established itself.”

01:22 – 01:33

There are many rookies entering the series this year. The most famous name comes from Germany and is really looking forward to his race debut.

01:33 – 01:48

Fabian Vettel (#55 Germany)

“I’m really looking forward to the start of the season. The weeks and months before the start, you don’t know how it will be. But now I’m ready, I’m full of anticipation to do racing.”

01:48 – 02:16

There is a lot of girl power entering the Audi Sport TT Cup this year, as many, as never before. Three girls rise to the challenge, Vivien Keszthelyi from Hungary, Gosia Rdest from Poland and Fabienne Wohlwend from Lichtenstein.

14 races to go this season. The Champion gets a little bit closer to the dream, becoming a professional race driver. But it’s a long way and it all begins in Hockenheim.

He has to do the most fan pictures and writing the most autographs. Fabian Vettel, younger brother of the four times Formula 1 world champion Sebastian Vettel. His entry gives a huge awareness for the brand trophy. A name with attraction.

International Highlight Audi Sport TT Cup – Hockenheimring, May 7th – 8th 2017

14:09 – 14:23

Fabian Vettel (#55 Germany)

“I have to handle the situation. There is a lot of interest, but I think this is special at the beginning and it will getting less after the first race weekend.”

14:23 – 14:28

Even the first race provides a lot of excitement.

14:28 – 14:33

Fabian Vettel (#55 Germany)

“I braked too late and can´t avoid the collision. It was completely my fault.”

14:33 – 14:37

A mistake with consequences. Drive through penalty, but he missed it.

14:37 – 14:47

Fabian Vettel (#55 Germany)

“I was extremely focused to the driver in front and that´s why I didn´t see the flag. But therefor I getting disqualified and have to enter the pits.”

14:47 – 14:55

That´s racing, but anyway. For the Audi Sport TT Cup is Vettel in every respect an enrichment.

14:55 – 15:07

Philipp Mondelears (Project Manager Audi Sport TT Cup)

“Fabian has done a really good job till now. At the testing time in Hockenheim, he improved from session to session and that was impressive. I think we can expect a lot from him.”

15:07 – 15:14

The self-expectations are high, although with 18 years, he is a late entrants.

15:14 – 15:21

Fabian Vettel (#55 Germany)

“Of course I want to be at the top of the field, I want to claim podiums but also able. But I have to learn a lot.”

15:21 – 15:32

Support he get´s from his father Norbert, who supported Sebastian and now Fabian. The footsteps from his famous brother are big, but he will do his own way.
